Placement tips

- Thoroughly inspect the infested area to determine the proper Advion Cockroach bait arena placement and the number of arenas necessary to treat the area.
- Enough arenas should be used to provide adequate bait to control the cockroach population.
- Place three to 10 bait arenas per 100 linear feet of horizontal surface, primarily around wall perimeters and other areas away from walls, including but not limited to around centrally located island sinks, cabinets and appliances.
- Place arenas in other areas frequented by cockroaches, such as along walls or corners, under or near kitchen appliances and industrial equipment, under sinks, in cabinets and in utility areas.
- Use the maximum number of arenas for heavy cockroach infestations.
- Each arena may be placed on a vertical or horizontal surface using an adhesive.
- Periodically inspect and replace depleted arenas as needed, based on severity of the initial cockroach infestation and a continuing control program.
- Replace arenas outdoors every three months, or sooner if needed.
- Avoid directly contacting arenas with broadcast, spot or crack-and-crevice pest control applications.
- Do not place arenas in locations recently treated with other pest control products, as spray residues could render the bait less palatable to cockroaches and reduce the effectiveness of the arenas.
